THE 16TH ANNUAL
HEART FAILURE
HOLIDAY SYMPOSIUM

We are delighted to invite cardiovascular fellows to attend a unique virtual educational opportunity designed especially for trainees and young investigators conducting basic or clinical research, who are embarking on a career in academic medicine in cardiovascular diseases and heart failure in particular.

As we celebrate our 16th Annual Northwestern Holiday Heart Failure Symposium, we are opening the weekend with this memorable event to be held virtually from 6:00-7:30 pm Thursday evening.

This year, we are privileged to have the following keynote speakers who will speak on the following topics:

6:15 pm Future of HF Clinical Trials
Chris O’Connor, MD

6:30 pm Future of HF Training/Research
Clyde W. Yancy, MD, MSc

6:45 pm Graduate Research in Cardiovascular Diseases
Nancy Albert, PhD, CCNS, CHFN, CCRN, NE-BC, FAHA, FCCM, FHFSFA, FAAN

A 30-minute question and answer session with our expert faculty will follow.

PROGRAM INFORMATION

OVERVIEW
The purpose of this event is to share advances in heart failure prevention and treatment. In addition, this symposium assembles some of the best leading cardiologists, cardiac surgeons, nurses, and pharmacists to provide updates on the very latest clinical, scientific, genetic, psychosocial, and technological advances.

LEARNING OBJECTIVES
At the conclusion of this activity, participants should be able to:

1. Describe pertinent new findings targeting the prevention and epidemiology of heart failure
2. Describe the evolution of the treatment approach to patients with cardiovascular disease and diabetes including the utility of cardiometabolic clinics
3. Identify key differences and approaches used in managing heart failure syndromes including those with preserved, reduced, and recovered ejection fraction and implications for heart failure guidelines
4. Describe updates in surgical treatment of end-stage heart failure with a focus on heart transplantation
5. Describe surgical and interventional management of patients with mitral, aortic, and tricuspid valve disease, as well as those with chronic thromboembolic pulmonary hypertension (CTEPH)
6. Identify advances in management of patients with heart failure in the outpatient setting
7. Become familiar with updates on management of myocarditis including potential cardiac implications of COVID-19
8. Describe the social determinants of health in heart failure including disparities and the importance of a social support network for optimal care and outcomes
9. Describe how to integrate family care into a cardiomyopathy clinic
10. Describe how to initiate and sustain a clinic with a focus on medication titration
11. Understand the relationships among sodium, kidney disease and heart failure

TARGET AUDIENCE
This CME program has been designed to meet the educational needs of Cardiologists, Internists, Cardiac Surgeons, Physicians, Physician Assistants, Nurse Practitioners, Fellows, Residents, Pharmacists, and Nurses and any other health care professionals who participate in the care of heart failure.

VIRTUAL FORMAT
A website link to the three-day live program will be sent out to registered participants three days prior to the conference date.

ACCREDITATION STATEMENT
The Northwestern University Feinberg School of Medicine is accredited by the Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education to provide continuing medical education for physicians.

CREDIT DESIGNATION STATEMENT
The Northwestern University Feinberg School of Medicine designates this live activity for a maximum of 11 AMA PRA Category 1 Credit(s)™. Physicians should claim only credit commensurate with the extent of their participation in the activity.

OTHER CREDITS
The American Academy of Nurse Practitioners and the American Nurses Credentialing Center accept AMA PRA Category 1 Credit(s)™ from organizations accredited by the ACCME.

SPECIAL NEEDS
The Northwestern University Feinberg School of Medicine fully intends to comply with the legal requirements of the Americans with Disabilities Act. If any participant of this conference needs accommodation, please indicate those needs on the registration form or submit written requests to the Office of CME at least one month prior to the conference date.
