ENDOSCOPY ACROSS THE WINDY CITY

We are thrilled to welcome you to the premier endoscopy course of the year. The landscape in gastroenterology is rapidly evolving with novel innovation and advances in minimally invasive procedures, including AI and endosurgery. Join clinician leaders from Northwestern Medicine, the University of Chicago Medicine, University of Illinois at Chicago, and John H. Stroger Hospital of Cook County, as they welcome guest speakers of both national and international renown for thoughtful and engaging discussion, including cases broadcasted LIVE from our GI labs.

MAIN COURSE OBJECTIVES

1. Implement novel innovation in screening and surveillance for Barrett's esophagus and esophageal cancer.
2. Apply endoscopic options in the management of malignant GI obstructions.
3. Demonstrate best practices in colonoscopy quality, polypectomy and endoscopic mucosal resection.
4. Review current state-of-the art management of pancreaticobiliary disease in practice.
5. Incorporate endoscopic techniques for advanced tissue resection and pancreaticobiliary disease into practice.
6. Identify the endoscopic management of obesity and metabolic disorders.
7. Discuss novel innovation and techniques in third space endoscopy.

APP COURSE OBJECTIVES

8. Explain the current role of artificial intelligence in their gastroenterology practice.
9. Identify the risks of endoscopic procedures and the subsequent management of complications.
10. Describe management therapies for Barrett's esophagus with dysplasia.
11. Implement the workup of elevated liver enzymes and indications for ERCP.
12. Review the current guidelines on pancreatic cyst and pancreatic cancer surveillance.
