Please join us for the Northwestern Medicine Advances in Epilepsy Care Continuing Medical Education Conference. The focus of our conference is to update physicians and other healthcare providers on the diagnosis of epilepsy, as well as treatment options.

Speakers will include providers who care for patients at Northwestern Medicine Central DuPage Hospital, Northwestern Medicine Delnor Hospital and Northwestern Memorial Hospital.

Learning objectives

At the conclusion of this activity, participants will be able to:

Apply the current standards of care in the treatment of epilepsy

Prescribe the ideal seizure medications for the treatment of women of childbearing age who have epilepsy

Identify the risk factors for SUDEP and the best strategy for its prevention

Use the diagnostic evaluation process when caring for a patient with refractory epilepsy

Examine the recent surgical advances in the management of epilepsy

Discuss the benefits of epilepsy surgery for both seizure control and quality of life

Demonstrate increased competence in highest-quality care for patients living with epilepsy

Target Audience

The continuing medical education program is designed to meet the educational needs of physicians (family practice, general practice, internal medicine, neurology, neurosurgery, psychiatry, psychology, radiology) and other healthcare providers (APNs, PAs, social workers) who are involved in the diagnosis and management of patients with suspected or diagnosed epilepsy.

Accreditation Statement

The Northwestern University Feinberg School of Medicine is accredited by the Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education (ACCME) to provide continuing medical education for physicians.

Credit Designation Statement

The Northwestern University Feinberg School of Medicine designates this live activity for a maximum of 3.0 AMA PRA Category 1 Credits™. Physicians should claim only the credit commensurate with the extent of their participating in the activity.

Other credits: The American Academy of Nurse Practitioners and the American Nurses Credentialing Center accept AMA PRA Category 1 Credits™ from organizations accredited by the ACCME.
