Chicago, IL 60611

Sponsored by Northwestern University Feinberg School of Medicine,
Departments of Medicine and Surgery, and the Office of Continuing Medical Education

The Northwestern University Feinberg School of Medicine designates this live activity for a maximum of 7.75 AMA PRA Category 1 Credits™. Physicians should claim only credit commensurate with the extent of their participation in the activity.

Dear Colleague,

We are pleased to invite you to our inaugural Women in Medicine Symposium October 25, 2018, at Northwestern Prentice Women's Hospital in Chicago. The symposium aims to highlight the achievements of women in medicine as well as to identify the ongoing challenges in career development. It is our hope that this event will facilitate growth of networks among community and academic physicians. The day will consist of evidence-based lectures, panel discussions, and breakout sessions, with dedicated time to connect with leaders on a local and national level.

Highlights of the 2018 Women In Medicine Symposium will include:

- Discussions on how to develop networks, and leverage those skills for career advancement and creation of academic work;
- Speakers and roundtable discussions highlighting current topics in professional development
- Strategies for work-life balance while maintaining overall wellness and health;
- Advance dialogue on the benefits of involvement in community activism and leadership.

The day will end with a unique networking opportunity, bringing together leaders in various clinical specialties.

We are excited to see you at this inaugural symposium. Please contact us if you would like additional information or visit our website for online registration. We hope to see you in October!

Sincerely,

Shikha Jain, MD
